

2002 Membership Application

All applications are subject to approval by the ICND board of directors.

The Indianapolis Coalition for Neighborhood Development is an association of neighborhood-based community development corporations. ICND is committed to providing leadership and advocacy to promote community-led development of housing and economic opportunities in Indianapolis neighborhoods.

Your organization may join as a voting member if:

- It is an Indiana registered not-for-profit community development corporation with specific neighborhood boundaries inside Marion County; and
- It has an Executive Director or President; and
- It performs work in low-income housing and/or economic development in economically and socially challenged neighborhoods.

Your organization may join as an affiliate member if:

- It does not qualify for a voting membership. This would typically include individuals, social service agencies, community action agencies, financial institutions & intermediaries, foundations, real estate professionals, technical assistance providers, corporations and others who wish to be part of our ICND network.

Benefits of membership include:

- Advocacy – Join the voices of others to impact local and state policies as well as improving the delivery system.
- Networking – Meet regularly with your colleagues to stay abreast of issues impacting the industry.
- Directory – Inclusion in the ICND Membership Directory
- Educational Material – Quarterly issues of Momentum, the ICND newsletter as well as special mailings and email alerts.
